KIMBA M. WOOD, United States District Judge:

Fact discovery in this case concluded on June 10, 2022. The Court made one exception to this deadline: the deposition of Elizabeth Eddy was permitted to occur on June 14, 2022.

In their most recent submission to the Court, the parties purport to have extended the deadline for another aspect of fact discovery, without making an application to the Court.
(Status Update at 1–2, ECF No. 203.)

The Court writes to remind the parties that the Court's deadlines may be extended only by application to the Court. The Court's prior Order stated that its deadlines for discovery "are final, and will not be extended, absent extraordinary good cause." (Op. at 2, ECF No. 179.) Moreover, counsel were ordered to devote sufficient resources to this case to comply with the Court's deadlines. Counsel were informed that "[f]urther failures to comply with these directives will be viewed with strong disfavor." (Id.)

SO ORDERED.
